3SI Security Systems and Wren Solutions Announce Charlie Erickson as Chief Technology Officer

Malvern, PA and Jefferson City, MO, January 3, 2024 –

3SI Security Systems and Wren Solutions, pioneers in security technology, are excited to welcome Charlie Erickson as our new Chief Technology Officer (CTO). Bringing over 30 years of extensive experience in the security industry, Charlie joins us with a rich history of innovation and technological advancement.

Charlie started his career by designing advanced access control systems for nuclear power plants, exhibiting his early dedication to high-security standards. He later made significant progress in video innovation by creating patented video capture technology still widely used in central monitoring stations today.

Holding several tech-focused leadership roles, Charlie's experience also includes commercializing integrated video solutions and utilizing cloud technology for enhanced data accessibility. In his former role as CTO at Securitas Technology, Charlie has excelled in merging cloud and IoT technology, AI, and machine learning with physical security systems, delivering substantial business insights and value.

"We are thrilled to have Charlie Erickson join us as our new CTO," stated Matt Kushner, CEO. "His unparalleled expertise in the security industry and his visionary approach to technology and innovation will propel our company to new heights. We look forward to seeing how his leadership will enhance our offerings and benefit our clients."

"First, I want to express my heartfelt gratitude to the exceptional teams at 3Xlogic, PACOM, Sonitrol, and Securitas, and the invaluable experience working with world-class teams on state-of-the-art solutions," Charlie remarked. "The significant technological foundation, customer base, and unique leadership in community policing established by 3SI and Wren is truly impressive, and I am eager to contribute to its growth and evolution. I am confident that as we expand these businesses, we will significantly deliver on our SaferWorld mission."

Charlie is poised to bring his knowledge and experience to 3SI and Wren. His appointment demonstrates our commitment to our mission and vision, which showcases our continued dedication to security innovation and breaking the crime cycle for our customers and law enforcement partners. With his proven track record in enhancing security technologies and driving business value through innovation, Charlie is set to be an asset to our team.
